AICD workshop offered to MI shareholders

MI is offering a complimentary information session, delivered by the highly respected Australian Institute of Company Directors (AICD), to A and B class shareholders interested in becoming a director or simply wanting to understand more about financial and business governance.

The modules to be delivered form part of the AICD Foundations of Directorship™ program so will also provide valuable training for anyone who is a Director of their own business or thinking of applying for a Board or Director position of any organisation.

This opportunity is delivered by MI as a means of adding value for shareholders and to assist them in managing their business affairs, as well as sharing insights into how MI is governed by its Board of Directors. MI directors will be available for a Q&A session at the end of the day.

Sessions will include:

The Role of the Director and the Board

- The role and relationships of the Board
- Who is a Director?
- How Boards do their job
- Directors' duties and responsibilities

Introduction to Financial Statements for Directors

- Interpreting financial performance indicators
- Structure of Financial Statements
- Income Statement, Balance Sheet and other reports
- Understanding statutory obligations

The workshop will offer networking opportunities with MI's Directors and management over drinks and light refreshments at the conclusion of the event.
